Professional History

- Procter & Gamble
- Accenture

Education

- B.S., Applied Science, Miami University

Kelly leads creative solutions to complex business issues and sales. Having spent more than 25 years with Procter & Gamble and more than 7 years with Accenture, she currently is the Design Leader for P&G's North America Retail Innovation Center. Prior to taking on this position, she was Procter & Gamble's Category Management Team Leader assigned to the Meijer Customer Team. In that role, she led the team responsible for $1.4 billion in Meijer's category sales, and her team's recommendations led to a 9% growth P & G's business. Kelly's skills include sales, creative organization management, change management, career development, business process change, design thinking, facilitation and adult learning.

Kelly's faith guides many of her community activities. She is a Stephen Minister and Assisting Minister with First Lutheran Church. While living in Grand Rapids, she was active with PhotoVoice as an interfaith explorer, photographer & design thinker and was part of the meal serving team with Degage. Kelly is the former president of Mariemont Arts Association and served on the board of Interparish Ministry. She is a former Girl Scout leader and volunteered with Kindervelt.
