Lissa is a talent management expert. With concentrations in both the food and service industries, she specializes in developing high-performing teams through recruitment, training, organizational development and accountability. Currently she is Director of Talent Acquisition for Southern Rock Restaurants which has more than 90 locations throughout the United States. At Altisource/Owners.com, she managed a team of 20 individuals to oversee all recruiting, credentialing, and onboarding activities. Earlier in her career, she was the Director of Talent Management for Fifth Group Restaurants. Lissa is especially skilled at linking corporate strategic plans with human capital practices, instituting collaborative practices, marketing, and leadership development.

Lissa's passion is to restore hope to children in foster care, with an emphasis on youth who age out of the system. She also is a strong advocate on women's issues. She is a former trustee of Camp Horizon, Inc. in Atlanta Georgia.

OneSource Experience

As a new volunteer, Lissa looks forward to putting her skills to use in leadership development, talent management, and strategic planning projects.
