As a senior executive, Dawn is committed to developing business strategies that drive efficiencies, optimize spend, and build long-lasting partnerships. In 2020, Dawn joined Procter & Gamble in Cincinnati as Senior Director, Vendor Management Office. Her responsibilities encompass overseeing strategic IT vendor management for more than 4,000 vendors. During her 14 years of service with Willis Towers Watson, she was promoted from Contracts Manager to Global IT Director. Earlier in her career, she managed contracts and was corporate counsel at CDI. Dawn's skills include negotiations, change management, vendor and supplier management, talent management, process improvement, and relationship management. Dawn is passionate about equality and inclusion programs, specifically for women and neurodiversity. She began the Women's Tech Inc group at Willis Towers Watson bringing women together to encourage and support the furtherance of women in technology roles. She also implemented a technology program which identified neuro diverse technology to support team members with autism.

Dawn's past community service includes serving as a girl scout volunteer, assisting at an animal shelter, and supporting and working at her local food pantry.

OneSource Experience

Dawn looks forward to putting her process improvement and talent management skills to work in business service projects.
