Bret is a food service executive, who recently retired after managing eight restaurants for Buffalo Wild Wings. During his tenure, the restaurants annually generated more than $27 million in sales and $4 million in net income. Prior to his tenure with Buffalo Wild Wings, he managed several Taco Bell locations for Tricon Global Restaurants (now YUM brands). Bret's expertise includes financial performance management, sales generation, product quality assurance, talent management, leadership development and coaching, and guest satisfaction.

OneSource Experience

Bret looks forward to putting his sales, food management, and financial management skills to work in business improvement projects.
