Professional History

- Greater Cincinnati STEM Collaborative
- Procter & Gamble

Education

- B.S., Quantitative Business Analysis, Indiana University

A retired IT and business services professional, Mary's is equally adept in both the for-profit and nonprofit sectors. Most of Mary's career was spent at Procter and Gamble, where she rose to the position of Director, Global Business Services Flow-to-the-Work and oversaw a portfolio in excess of $100 million. In her final year at P & G, she was a loaned executive to the Strive Partnership where she co-founded and launched the Greater Cincinnati STEM Collaborative. As soon as she retired, she was recruited to become the Collaborative's first Executive Director. Mary's skillsets include shared services and IT expertise, business transformation, and operational and organizational leadership.

With a strong belief in giving back, Mary has been involved in several community activities. She currently is a board member of Graceworks Lutheran Services. She is a past board member of ISPACE and the Cincinnati Observatory. She also is a past council member of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church.

OneSource Experience

Mary looks forward to assisting with business service, strategic planning, stakeholder interview design and execution, and leadership development projects.
