Bill's expertise lies in product development. He retired from Procter & Gamble as Senior Engineer, having spent more than 35 years with the company. During his career, Bill was well-known for his unique ability to bring together small diverse groups to build understanding, develop consensus, and solve problems.

Bill is active in his church.

OneSource Center Experience

After becoming a consultant in 2001, Bill immediately recognized the importance of connecting people in a digital age. To ensure face-to-face contact, he pioneered the "water cooler" as a way to link all volunteer consultants with one another. Bill serves both as a project leader and as an EXCEL coach. He was part of the team assisting Foto Focus. He conducted a board development project for United Coalition for Animals, oversaw a project for Newport Independent Schools, and provided strategic consulting to Cincinnati Public Schools. He was part of the curriculum design team for the People's Liberty Leadership Training Program. Bill also is one of OneSource's official photographers.
