Jane is an experienced technology team leader with a client service focus. As Director of Operations at The Health Collaborative, she guided a nine-person team to develop and manage technology services. As Manager, Reporting & Analytics at Garretson Resolution Group, she led a team to develop and implement business efficiencies. Jane's skill set includes cross-functional team management, information technology management, change management, and leadership development.

Believing strongly in empowering women, Jane has been on the board of Girls on the Run and currently a sustaining member of the Junior League of Cincinnati. She is a lifetime member of African Professionals Network where she has served on various leadership roles.

OneSource Center Experience

Jane's OneSource Center experience involves assisting client organizations' work through operational issues, strategic challenges, or leadership development concerns. As part of the Building Blocks leadership team, she focuses on logistics and oversees the flawless execution of monthly one-off workshops, some of which were in person and others which were virtual. Jane also helped develop a Salesforce Nonprofit Success Pack (NPSP) training curriculum which will empower nonprofit organizations to expand their community impact.
