Jody is a human and civil rights attorney, licensed to practice in New York and Connecticut. As an attorney with Beldock, Levine & Hoffman, she specialized in class action, pattern-and-practice and individual employment discrimination and retaliation cases. Jody was also formerly with the ACLU and CCLU, where she was involved in developing cutting-edge constitutional and other legal challenges concerning reproductive rights, fair housing, due process and First Amendment cases.

Jody is adept at building consensus, strategic planning, directing research efforts, and interpreting data. She is the Vice-Chair of the Board of Directors of Dress for Success Cincinnati and on the Boards of Executive Service Corps-United States and the Cincinnati Yale Club.

OneSource Center Experience

Jody is OneSource's immediate past Manager of Consulting Services. As a project assessor, she reviews projects prior to contracts being signed with OneSource clients. Jody has led projects at the United Way and People's Liberty to design and implement leadership development workshops, and co-led a strategic planning project for Ursuline Academy. She assisted Green Acres Foundation with an organizational staff assessment. Jody also reviewed and helped update the EXCEL curriculum and is a member of OneSource's DEI Taskforce on Training.
