Professional History

- Consultant

Education

- Ph.D., Social Psychology, University of Cincinnati
- M.A., Psychology, University of Cincinnati
- B.A., English/Education, Roosevelt University

For more than forty years, Ruth has been retained by private, public, and nonprofit organizations to consult on organizational development, managing change, performance management, process consultation, assessment, and coaching. Some of her clients include Procter & Gamble, Kroger, the University of Cincinnati, Duke Energy, and the U.S. Postal Service. Separate from her consulting practice, Ruth has served as adjunct faculty at the University of Cincinnati, Thomas More College, and Northern Kentucky University. Ruth's areas of expertise include the design, implementation, and evaluation of work effectiveness strategies, survey research design and assessment, total quality management, strategic planning, and addressing organizational conflict.

Ruth was a co-founder of the first women's organization in the greater Cincinnati area, WOMEN INTO TOMORROW, INC. (WIT), a non-profit educational corporation formed to provide training, counseling, and career guidance for women in Greater Cincinnati. She served as its first officer, and continues to be active on issues important to women.

OneSource Center Experience

Ruth designed, delivered, and headed ADVANCE, a six-week course for new managers, which emphasizes integrating social/emotional intelligence with leadership and management skill development. She also worked with Warren County Economic Development Team, St. John's and Indian Hill churches, and on strategic planning projects. Ruth helped design and deliver a customized leadership program at Planned Parenthood of Southwest Ohio. Ruth has been an EXCEL coach and also takes on customized coaching assignments.
