Rick's expertise lies in strategic planning, marketing, communications, and external relations. He retired from Convergys Corporation in 2010 as Director, Global Industry Analyst Relations. He also held positions as Director, Strategic Planning and Director Product Marketing. Prior to that, Rick was Program Management Director with Spectrum Strategies, a telecommunications consulting firm in Denver, Colorado. Previously, he was Director, Access Management & Regulatory Issues for Cincinnati Bell.

Rick is actively involved in a variety of community activities. He is a board member for the Corporation for Findlay Market and a member of the University of Cincinnati Lindner College of Business MBA Advisory Board. Rick was a member of the University of Cincinnati Foundation Alumni Participation Committee. Other leadership roles include serving as past Chairman of the Clermont Chamber of Commerce, past Vice-President of Invest in Neighborhoods, and past Treasurer of the Great Rivers Girl Scout Council. He also served on the Agency Services Board of the United Way of Greater Cincinnati.

OneSource Center Experience

Rick's project leader assignments include Center for Independent Living Options, Cincinnati Animal Care, Ursuline Academy, Community Engagement Collective, and the Regional Autism Advisory Council. Rick is a past EXCEL coach and serves on OneSource's training faculty. In 2019, he helped design and deliver a leadership training series for recipients for People's Liberty grants. When clients approach OneSource for assistance, Rick engages in the initial assessment of the clients' needs.
