MEET AMANDA

OneSource Center welcomes Amanda Lynn Barker as our new Director of Consulting Services. Amanda is a non-profit industry professional with nearly two decades of experience in community engagement, cross-functional project management, impact assessment and evaluation, and business development. She has a BA in Communication and Culture from Indiana University-Bloomington, an MA in Social Science from Humboldt State University in northern California, and is pursuing her PhD in Counseling from the University of Sedona. In addition to her service-aligned career, Amanda likes trail running, yoga, adventure travel, green juice, and dreaming about new opportunities on the horizon. She is grateful to be part of this team and is looking forward to cooperative collaboration with the consultants and the community.

SEEKING VETTED VENDORS

As part of OneSource's efforts to assist the Greater Cincinnati nonprofit community, we are developing a list of vetted vendors who provide services to nonprofit organizations. For now, our list will focus on vendors in these three areas:

- (1) Staffing/Hiring/HR;
- (2) Marketing;
- (3) Accounting/Finance.

As a first step in developing this list, OneSource is seeking recommendations from our connections in the nonprofit community of vendors they have used in these areas and whose services they have been happy with. If you have anyone that you can recommend, please contact Dave Wallace at dwallace@onesourcectr.org.

The Year Ahead

End-of-year greetings from all of us at OneSource Center!

Every day hundreds of thousands of Greater Cincinnatians rely on resources provided by nonprofits. OneSource Center is honored to support these agencies through our nonprofit resource center. Our staff and volunteers work tirelessly to provide innovative programming and in the areas of consulting, training and marketing. OneSource Center Furniture Bank and Marketplace offerings. Funders, donors and sponsors make this work possible, and we are thankful for their belief in our work.

CEO CHRISTIE BROWN
Gratitude: A Year of Reflection and Growth

As the end of the year quickly approaches, like many of us, I find myself remembering what I'm grateful for. And I can't help but add our beautiful, wonderful city of Cincinnati to that list. It's full of hard-working, helpful people who I believe truly want to make a difference.

Every day hundreds of thousands of Greater Cincinnatians rely on resources provided by nonprofits. My mind wanders to think of what our city – our communities and neighborhoods – would look like if we didn't have any nonprofits. Could you even imagine a city without nonprofit?

OneSource Center for Nonprofit Excellence (OneSource Center) is the only center in the Greater Cincinnati nonprofits serving 200+ cities through paths: furniture, marketplace products, consulting, coaching and training services, nonprofit agencies are directly involved with OneSource.

Working as a community connector, OneSource works with over 100 of Cincinnati's nonprofit community and helps strengthen agencies that help us because we believe that high-performing nonprofits are vital to a thriving Greater Cincinnati community.

This year we've made important strides to create a more cohesive, connected nonprofit community.

We're just starting the second year of our three-year strategic plan and are making strides against some very lofty goals. In 2023, we're launching programs to bring nonprofits together for greater collaboration and impact, providing new services to respond to needs identified by the nonprofits we serve, and working to truly bring the hub concept to life.

We're offering more member benefits than ever before as a OneSource Center member – both in the Common Good Store Furniture Bank and Marketplace and through our consulting and training efforts. Members can now access more benefits, including our essential Common Good Voucher Program.

We continue to stay connected to important projects throughout the city, including once again participating in the Reds Community Fund Makeover in Lincoln Heights and coordinating the most Toys for Tots giveaways yet.

It wouldn't be possible for us to help nonprofits all over the region without people like you – our supporters, volunteers, spouses and donors.

This year we're participating in the Cincinnati Gives campaign. Truly, you can't go wrong with giving to any of the amazing nonprofits in Cincinnati, but a gift to OneSource has a multiplier effect on all of the region's nonprofits. We're grateful for the opportunity to make such an impact on the city we all live, and we look forward to what's to come.

Sincerely,
Christie Brown
