A global healthcare leader with 21 years of experience at Johnson & Johnson (J&J), Veronica worked across many different functions throughout her career, including strategy & marketing, finance, and engineering. Her most recent role was leading a program within J&J's Global Public Health division that increased access to safe surgical treatment for women in low- and middle-income countries. Veronica is known as an inspirational strategist who motivates and empowers teams to navigate complex challenges, create effective partnerships, and develop solutions for sustaining impact. She is a caring and empathetic leader who focuses on forming authentic relationships to create inclusive and engaging cultures and inspire environments for strategic possibility. And she is an agile innovator who leverages diverse skillsets and collaborative working style to seamlessly adapt in changing situations and deliver better outcomes for organizations, their talent, and the people they serve.

Outside of work, Veronica has been an active member of the Greater Cincinnati community, serving as a volunteer with Dress for Success and a mentor with the Society of Women Engineers and the Cincinnati Youth Collaborative. Veronica previously served as a board member with the Madisonville Education and Assistance Center and was also a member of the Cincinnati USA Regional Chamber's C-Change Leadership Program in 2020.

OneSource Experience

As a OneSource volunteer, Veronica Looks forward to working on strategic planning and business solutions projects, as well as coaching.
